To whom it may concern:

It's my great pleasure to write a letter of recommendation for Mahmoud Alfalah, whom I taught mathematics in the third year of secondary school. Mahmoud showed tremendous effort and development academically throughout the year and was a person of positive energy. I am confident that Mahmoud will continue to show the same commitment and diligence in his university studies. There is no doubt that the student Mahmoud deserves to be among those accepted into the Turkish scholarship program because of his distinguished academic background and social personality. His acceptance of the scholarship will certainly constitute an important factor in achieving his future goals.

Throughout the school year, Mahmoud kept up with everything going on in class, and submitted his assignments on time as well. Mahmoud used to ask for help when he did not understand a certain part of mathematics, and this showed the extent of his great interest and distinction. Mahmoud has shown remarkable growth in his abilities over the year, and has inspired his classmates to excel as well. I can say that Mahmoud contributed to creating a healthy competitive environment in the classroom by helping his colleague, and also competing among the students in the class.

Mahmoud is an outstanding student and an individual who supports others inside and outside the classroom. It was my pleasure to have him as one of my students, and I am also happy to write this letter of recommendation to the student Mahmoud. I am confident that he will continue to show the same diligence, perseverance and optimism that he showed me. I nominate Mahmoud to receive the scholarship without hesitation. Do not hesitate to contact me if you have any further questions.
